Dear Mrs. Manley:

Thank you very much for your letter of June 29 and for the check you enclosed.

As much as we would like to ship twelve dozen balls for this weekend, it is impossible. We have been entirely out of this ball since the time we sent you our last six dozen until today when a very small shipment came in from the factory. Six dozen balls were shipped to you by express today, and we will try to send at least another six dozen the early part of next week. This is the best we can possibly do.

Yours truly,

HORACE PARTRIDGE
